3 About Me: This Rotarian 1) attended a New Year's Eve party at the palace of Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos; 2) Was the only person in the high school class not to win a letter in sports and 3) Traded in a 1962 Porsche Super 90 Roadster for a Ford Minivan. Answer: Peter Larson

Today's Program: Tom Hall introduced Christopher Winslow from Stone Lab as today's guest speaker. Dr. Winslow gave a very informative talk on the algae blooms and phosphorus that threaten the Great Lakes area of Northwest Ohio. Stone Lab is an Ohio State University research facility that receives about $2 million in state funding to help combat the problem. Dr. Winslow says researchers are working on 18 projects over 5 areas of focus. They areas are: 1. Detection, mapping and creating a network to warn people about upcoming algae blooms, 2. To produce safe drinking water, 3. To work with farmers on safe land use practices, 4. To study the health and toxicity effects on humans and 5. To get the word out to the public about the economics of the problem.

Dr. Winslow explained that Lake Erie is most susceptible due to its shallow depths. The majority of the phosphorus problem flows into the lake from the Maumee River. Some practices that will help resolve the problem are eliminating winter and broadcast fertilizing by farmers. Homeowners can do their part by minimizing chemical lawn treatments which may end up in local water sources.

Raffle: Jerry Nethers was the lucky winner...AGAIN!!!

Thought for the week: "It is better to have enough ideas for some of them to be wrong, than to be always right by having no ideas at all."

– Edward DeBono

This week's program: Tyler's Light

Wayne Campbell is the president and founder of Tyler's Light, a grassroots non-profit organization bringing awareness to communities across Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, and Pennsylvania about the dangers of prescription and illegal drug use. Wayne has pioneered the effort to reach students and communities through cutting-edge presentations. He has, of this date, spoken to over 50,000 students and families. The organization was named after Wayne's son, Tyler, who tragically died of an accidental heroin overdose in July 2011 after a fight with addiction to prescription pain medication. Tyler's Light has made great strides toward encouraging people to "Speak Up, Save a Life". In addition, sponsored the second largest 5k event in Ohio (with over 1600 participants), and reached thousands of people online with its powerful "Speak Up, Save a Life" videos. Additionally, Wayne has extensive experience in the transportation, logistics and communications sectors. You can learn more about Wayne and Tyler's Light at www.tylerslight.com
