Program: Cheri Hottinger introduced Rod Cook, Executive Director of the America Red Cross of East & South Central Ohio. Born in Japan but growing up in Central Ohio, Rod graduated from Circleville High School and Miami University. Rod thanked the club in advance for donating blood on 11/21.

American Red Cross has had a historic season, which they are still going through. American Red Cross is always prepared to handle two Level 7 Disaster Relief Operations (DRO) at a time. However, this storm season, the Red Cross has responded to the following disasters: Hurricane Harvey (Level 7 DRO), Hurricane Irma (Level 7 DRO), Hurricane Maria (Level 7 DRO), Las Vegas Shooting, Hurricane Nate (CAT 1 Storm), and the California Wildfires (Level 6 DRO). With three Level 7's happening simultaneously, a response system that was already stretched, has been stretched even further with the additional emergencies. For example, although not publicized, immediately following the Las Vegas shooting, Red Cross set up a family assistance center and transferred in 400 units of blood to Las Vegas hospitals.

In response to Hurricane Irma, Rod was deployed to the Florida Keys for 14 days. This was his 7th national deployment and, by far the hardest physically due to the heat. Most days the heat index was 110+ degrees. While responding in the Keys, the Red Cross faced the dilemma of where to put their workers. They did not want to take up space in local hotels, so they initially stayed in classrooms at a local high school. They soon needed to move locations to allow for the school to prepare for students to return, so the American Red Cross reached out to the Danish Red Cross for assistance. Eight Danes came to the Keys and helped establish a base camp for the Red Cross volunteers at a nearby Boy Scout Camp.

American Red Cross is the bridge between immediate response and long term recovery. Rod's specific work in the Keys, called "Community Partners," found him working with local nonprofits, churches and other organizations to get them on the same page and focusing on long term recovery.

American Red Cross is not a government agency and does not receive federal assistance. They can only do what they do through the support of local communities and fundraising. Fortunately during this storm season their fundraising efforts are keeping pace with their need, but it is quite possible they may need to borrow money before the season ends given the magnitude of recent disasters.

Thought of the Week: "Hurricane season brings a humbling reminder that, despite our technologies, most of nature remains unpredictable."
