- Red badge exchange for Megan Evans.

Sergeant-At-Arms: Bill Cost filled in for Pat Jeffries. His applause started out quite slow, but grew as he approached the microphone where he would be issuing fines. He began by sharing that the night before, he started out watching the presidential debate, but wanted less hard hitting, so he turned it to an NFL game. Then he handed out fines to Craig Young (brother in paper); Rob Montagnese (Ribbon cutting in paper); Barb Quackenbush (Her son won Homecoming King); Bob Kent (wearing shorts, which actually made it OK that he too was wearing shorts); Dave Hile (voting himself in for President as per the speech he gave for a student earlier).

Program: Bob Kent told a story of himself discovering he had Stage 4 Melanoma, which led him to the James Center where he met his "BFF," Dr. David Liebner. Dr. Liebner is, among many things, board certified in medical oncology and offers a large number of grants totaling about one-quarter million dollars. Bob exclaimed that, "most important, he's kept me alive!"

Dr. Liebner began by having a show of hands of everyone who's been impacted by cancer — every hand in the crowd went up. He then started a slide show presentation titled, "Cancer Immunotherapy – Harnessing the Power of Your Immune System." He claimed that we've known for a long time that the immune system has a critical role in battling cancer. We also know that those who have a weakened immune system are more susceptible to developing cancer. He described the Immune System as a police force, effectively discovering the enemy and destroying them. Step 1: Identify the enemy; Step 2: Call in the alarm; Step 3: Get the team ready for action; Step 4: Apprehend the villain.

He went on to describe the early works of Dr. William Coley, "The Father of Cancer Immunotherapy." Dr. Coley discovered a bacteria solution, which he began injecting into patients and found success regressing some cancerous tumors.

Current approaches: Vaccines; Immune stimulants, such as, cytokines and viruses; Cell therapies, such as, bone marrow transplant and tumor specific treatments. Provenge was the 1st Immunotherapy.

T-Vec (Viral Immunotherapy) is popular treatment right now that turns cancer into, "an infected factory, and then attacks." Another popular treatment, Interleukin-2, took a previously "incurable cancer" in 1999, into a 6% complete remission rate. T-Cell Therapy (T-Cells are what can kill cancer) is yet another advancement and is most common in children with cancer, especially Leukemia.

Dr. Liebner concluded with a clear optimism on the incredible advancements in the fight against cancer! He highlighted the, "Game changer of 2016," which are drugs called "Checkpoint Inhibitors." They have been able to cure 5-10% of Melanoma as a result of these Checkpoint Inhibitors. He also dubbed 2016, "The Year of Immunotherapy!"

Thought of the week: "Cancer can take away all of my physical abilities. It cannot touch my mind, it cannot touch my heart, and it cannot touch my soul. And those three things are going to carry on forever." -- Jimmy Valvano
